TRADESMEN MUST WIN FOUR GAMES WITHOUT LOSS

After winning the league pennant by four full games and after sweeping a three-game set from Watertown in the playoff semi-finals, the Wilmington Tradesmen ran into a juggernaut last weekend, when they took on Reading in the finals. When the smoke had cleared and Manager Jim Tighe had a chance to count the casualties, this is what he found: Reading had beaten his team three times by scores of 9-4, 11-0, and 9-0, using assorted weapons such as 2 home runs, 4 triples, 3 doubles and 20 singles. His hardid pitching staff had been demolished and his hitters had been rendered harmless by three ordinary Reading hurlers, two of whom had just graduated from high school in June. It is difficult to find a reason for the collapse of the local team. In the last two games in which these two clubs met, with the league

Official Map Planning Board

Chairman Danny Gillis gave his long awaited report on the Alderwood Estates water problem, on Tuesday evening, and as has long been expected it was to say that the Planning Board had no jurisdiction over complaints that there is water in cellars.

He stated that the surveys by the Town Engineer had served to verify the reports of the previous engineer. A few routine items in construction will be corrected, Mr Gillis said.

There was some discussion of another real estate development, with three residents of the area.

Gillis told the three residents that the developer had said that he would correct outstanding problems of drainage this August, with the correction of a drain between two homes and also of one in the street.

One of the residents was Mr. Gravelese, and he told the Planning Board that he had been working on the drains, and that various sized pipes had been installed in the same drain.

Town Engineer Arthur Harding, who was supposed to be on vacation, but was at the meeting, said that the developer had told him he would install an Open Mouth Catch Basin between the lots, to carry the water, a statement which Mr. Gravelese said had been made for four years.

Official Map

The discussion of the evening was with Steve Bartlett, full time planner, who is working on the project of having an Official Map of Wilmington.

Charles Downes, former official of the Massachusetts Department of Commerce and Development, now working with Prof. Charles Elliott of Harvard, for the Official Map project, prefers that the Town of Wilmington take a 'liberal' approach to the Official Map problem. Bartlett told the Board, Bartlett was in favor of a stricter approach.

Bartlett said that an Official Map would be a record of all existing Public Ways, Private Ways, and Existing Ways in Use. He wanted a definition from the Town Council as to the type of way that would be passable by a normal automobile.

The meat of the discussion was: What would happen to private homes, two or less, if unaccepted streets were to be ruled as no longer being streets.

Possibly the discussions meant 'parcels', but the word 'homes' was most frequently used.

The Planning Board, after a long discussion, decided that it would be better to adopt a more stringent attitude, than a liberal one. The purpose, they decided, was to give the town more control, and to adopt a liberal viewpoint would be to defeat the purpose of an Official Map.

Other Business

The firm of Pine Tree Realty, who have already developed Wicks Circle, was at the meeting with a map of land along Park Street, part of the Barbo development. They planned to put in 14 homes there, facing Park Street, and were ready to submit a map.

When told by the Planning Board chairman that drainage and other problems had not yet been fully settled with the engineers of Barbo and Tambone, the Pine Tree Realty agreed to wait a week before submitting their map.

Chairman Gillis brought up the subject of a projected playground in Hathaway Acres. With Town owned land there could be 300 to 400,000 square feet of playground if the Town were to accept the land set aside in Hathaway Acres and Esquire Estates.

Mrs. McKie is to talk about the problem, with reference to the projected October Town Meeting, with TM Morris.

A letter was received, written to Commissioner Schulenberg of the Department of Commerce and Development, about Wilmington's current 701 program (part of which is the Official Map).

The Metropolitan Planning Council wrote the letter, and among other things was complimentary to Wilmington's program. The letter approved the program set up by the Planning Board.

The letter is necessary, under present Federal regulations, before the HUD (Housing and Urban Development) funds can be appropriated for Wilmington use.

The Jackson Brothers submitted to the Board, for its consideration, a 'Definitive Plan' for a development to be called Allen Park, and to be located between Parker Street and Maple Meadow Brook.

Gillette Would Locate in Andover

The Gillette Safety Razor Company of Boston, which has been seeking for months for a site for a $2.8 million packaging and warehousing plant, announced last week that it has an option on 140 acres of land in the Lowell Junction area of Andover, land owned by John Kay and John Cronin.

The land lies near Wilmington, south of the Shawsheen River and east of Interstate 93. Part of the boundary for the proposed site is Lowell Junction Road, which runs westward from what is in Wilmington called Ballardvale Road. Further boundaries for the proposed site are Lowell Street Extension, a 'wood road', and a Right of Way which leads towards Wilmington, and passes the farm of Patsy Tallini.

That right of way, at least at the present time, is for farmers and cattle only. It crosses the B&M RR in the land which is under option to the Service Warehouse Inc. of South Boston. Service Warehouse announced two weeks ago that it plans to build a warehouse partly in Wilmington and partly in Andover.

There is speculation in the Real Estate circles of Wilmington that Gillette would like to see that right-of-way become a regular road, with grade crossing rights over the B&M RR. Such an event, it has been pointed out, would save the company miles of road travel.

Other firms have tried, unsuccessfully, to convert the cattle crossing near Patsy Tallini's farm into a grade crossing.

Wilmington's Town Hall has not heard anything about such a move, or any other proposal coming from Andover.

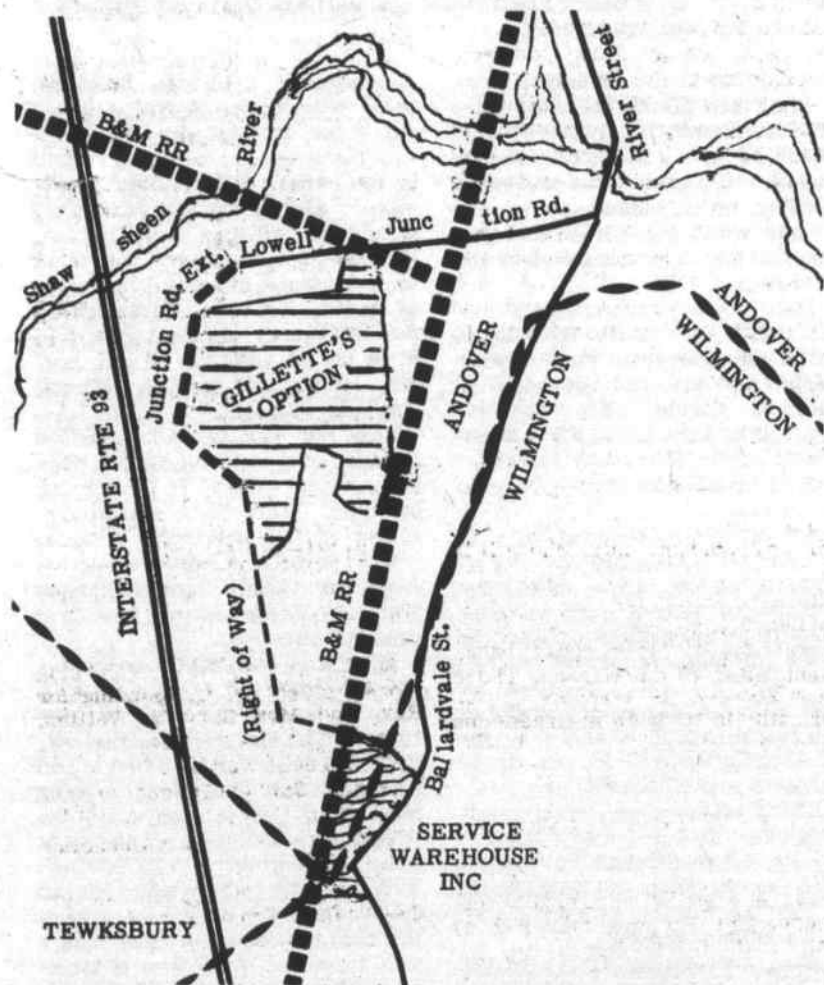

The Town of Andover has called for a special Town Meeting, to be held next Monday. In that meeting the voters will be asked to appropriate $1 million for road, water and sewer extensions for the new firm.

Also asked for in that meeting is a vote to change the Zoning By-Law sufficiently to allow Service Warehouse to have a railroad siding on the B&M, in Andover.

Meanwhile a previously adverse decision of the state Department of Public Works, against Gillette, in Natick, has been overturned.

The Superior Court, Tuesday, reversed a decision of the state DPW which would not allow the Gillette Company to have a rail spur in Natick. Gillette had been considering the Natick site before it announced the Andover option.

Whether or not the Court decision will effect Gillette's decision to locate in Andover is not known at this time.

SKETCH: Showing how the Right of Way past the land optioned to Gillette goes through land optioned to Service Warehouse, Inc. Ballardvale Street follows the boundary between Andover and Wilmington for about a mile, becoming River Street in Andover.

More and more folk remedies are falling by the wayside these days. The latest is the one about carrots.

Remember when you'd be given a glass of carrot juice or a bit of carrot and told that 'it's good for your eyes, darling?' Well, researchers report that carrots are no more helpful in improving vision than most other foods. They won't correct cross-eyes, either, no matter how much you eat.

And if you take in too much carotene, you could get a yellow-orange tint to your skin... which isn't really showing your true colors, is it?

Yes, we have no carrots, but we do have the finest in medical supplies and pharmaceutical needs. For the finest in prescriptions come in to SILVER LAKE PHARMACY at 52 Main Street in Wilmington. Just notice you've run out of a cosmetic, baby need, or that party requires that you take along a nice box of candy... we've got them all and many more goodies waiting for you. ## Selectmen's Meeting

The display of a picture of a projected $5 million dollar building brought smiles to the Board of Selectmen, Monday night.

Sam Tucker, one time Wilmington resident, and now Vice President and general manager of North Eastern Volkswagen, of Waltham was the visitor who displayed the picture.

Sam had come to the Selectmen's meeting to tell them that the firm is planning to start construction soon, on the 40 acres of land it bought from Leo Barbo and A. J. Tambone, and that the buildings should be completed by September 1969.

The buildings will be the only ones visible from Route 93. There will be a total of 196,000 square feet with 44,000 for executive offices, 5000 square feet in a central building, and 128,000 square feet for warehousing.

North East Volkswagen will service all of New England, with the exception of Connecticut from the new Wilmington location, Tucker told the Selectmen.

Twenty eight of the forty acres will be used for the plant, and the remainder will be for landscaping and parking.

Tucker told the Selectmen that North Eastern Volkswagen wants to be good neighbors, and that the cafeteria, which will seat 180 persons, will be available for non-profit organizations to use. However there will be no liquor served on the premises.

Other Business

George Mulvey of Sewall Road was drawn for Jury Duty at the Lowell civil session of the Middlesex County Court.

Drawn for the civil session in Cambridge was Thomas D Barry of 130 Grove Avenue, and drawn for the criminal session was Edith Michelson, of 33 Adams Street.

Chairman Miceli of the Board of Selectmen read letters from Rep. Fred Cain and Senator Ron MacKenzie about billboards on Route 93. The chairman had written letters of complaint to them. It was stated that there is to be a Mass. Roadside Council hearing on a complaint in Littleton, on Route 495. Selectman Boylen pointed out that the Lowell paper had referred to this. It was decided to turn the business over to the Town Council.

The plaque put up a week ago Saturday, by the American Civil Engineering Society, on the Middlesex Canal, at the Wilmington Billerica line was discussed, with Miceli still talking about the five busloads of people who saw the ceremony and afterwards visited the Town Park, to inspect the old 'Ox Bow' curve, and other remains of the canal.

Chief of Police Lynch and the Police Department were commended on their traffic control, and the Highway and Water Departments on their cleanup jobs at the Town Park, prior to the ceremony.

Chairman Miceli reported on the MBTA hearing of August 9th., to which he was a delegate. He said he had voted against the increased subsidy, which passed anyway, and he had voted for Forest Neil Jr., who had been recommended by the Governor.

Dell Drive Fred Arsenault and Mr Costa were at the meeting to thank the Selectmen for the 'wonderful job' that had been done at Patricia Circle. Everyone was pleased he said, and happy to maintain it. He said that the street had had nothing but an asphalt base for three years.

Speaking of a pole hearing, to be on August 28th, George Boylen commented on recent newspaper reports of underground installations of public utilities in Concord and Lynnfield. It turned out that TM Morris had an appointment to talk with TM Flynn of Concord on Thursday (today) so that this type of installation will be one of the subjects to be discussed.

Comments were made on the advertisements for the new fence at the Park Street bridge were made, with Boylen complimenting Miceli. The tax rate is to be announced in a couple of weeks.

Chairman Danny Gillis of the Planning Board had cancelled his scheduled report on the drainage in the Kenyon Street area. He was attending another meeting. The report is not to be made to the Selectmen now for two weeks. Four residents of Alderwood Estates, who were present, were a bit upset at this.

Mr Miceli read a letter in which it was stated that a commercial company which provides community antennae for TV will be moving into Wilmington. The type of antennae service seems to be the CATV, so-called, but the Selectmen called it Cable TV.

A license, with usual restrictions, was granted to 'Ricky's Dog House, at 325 Main Street.

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208, Wilmington, or call 657-7141, or after five, 658-4865. If I'm not there, I'll call you.

Well, folks, I'm still on the clean-up campaign. What happened to the three-paper deal every time you go out? T Square is a mess along with several other sites in town. And it's not only kids, because the type of junk we're finding would hardly belong to kids. Let's get with it...The Town represents the people in it, and it bothers me that strangers would think we were all as sloppy as the town looks lately. How about it? Get out the litter bags and get to work, on account of that slogan 'every litter bit hurts' us all. Hear that Church Street Hardware picked up the two burned buildings in the square and is already cleaning this up. Congratulations, Ch. St.

The Kiwanians report that the Education/Achievement and Vocational Guidance Committee met at Russell Joseph's house last Wednesday and they have a Scholarship and other proposals ready for the Board of Directors. Ben Hehn is having competition at the Bean Supper. Carl Backman is setting up a dessert booth in the form of Fruit Cakes. Ben has the tickets for the members to sell. Bob Peters has had his adding machine going to collect charges from all of those who are keeping their badges each week, and collecting fines too. Someone, we hear has over five weeks fines to pay.

John Murray Jr., passed his CPA this week. He is working for Gladstone and Chain in Boston. After finishing four years at BC he has been taking graduate work to qualify for CPA. Congratulations, Johnny. He and his wife, Martha (Dolpher) are living at Lowell Street in Woburn. They are expecting a new arrival around the first of September, and this will be the fifth living generation in the Dolpher family. The grandmothers are in Pennsylvania and California and will be arriving for a visit when the new cherub appears on the scene. We have been promised a picture of the generations together. The best to you, John and Martha. We're most anxious to hear your good news.

TM Sterling Morris is again plugging away at the Town Hall. He looks well browned and rested, as though the National Guard duty had been a vacation trip. However, we understand the tin hat and combat boots weren't exactly his choice of comfortable gear to be wearing in all that heat. Good to have you back, Boss.

We received a card from Alice Oulette from Florida, showing all of the pretty gals and stuff. It certainly sounds as though she was having much fun. Alice is that cheerful smile in Poole's Bakery. Mr. Poole is also on vacation. Hope he is getting a good rest. How one man keeps going the way he does, is amazing. Have a good vacation, both of you. But we certainly miss your optimistic presence in the square.

Gail Smith of Glen Road called. Gail is the gal at Sweetheart Plastics who had the accident last week. She said that she wished me to thank Mr. Blaisdell and Mr. Lyons for the help in getting her to the hospital. Also, she wishes to thank all of you who have been so thoughtful with cards and gifts. She asked me to tell you that it wasn't nearly as bad as people thought, she just lost the tip of her thumb. However, it'll still be a while before she'll be playing shortstop on any softball teams.

The Cadette Girl Scout Troop 354 will be having a paper drive this fall. The Cadettes and their leaders Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Foley will be happy if all of you good people will save the papers for them. More details about this one later!

There'll be a Blueberry Carnival given by the WSCS at the Methodist Church on Wednesday, August 23, 1967, at 6:30 P.M. There'll be blueberry pie, ice cream, coffee and punch. Then too, on sale will be balloons, popcorn, and baked goods for your enjoyment. And can those gals cook! This should be a great family take-in for the last of the summer. How about it folks?

The Hadassah - Shawsheen Valley Chapter, which serves the Jewish women in the Towns of Burlington, Billerica, Bedford, Wilmington, and Tewksbury would like to know of any new Jewish families moving into the community. If you know of any, please call Mrs. Sydney Locke of Burlington, who is the new president at 272-9576, or membership chairman, Mrs. Michael Berlow of Burlington - 272-2625. If you are a new family, and have not yet been contacted, please give them a call yourselves. These folks do a lot of good community work. Have known a lot of these gals a long time, and their enthusiasm is tremendous.

Mr. Secret, thanks for your note about Allen. Don't know as I can do very much about the situation, but have forwarded it to Howard Lefaver, who is the father of all basketball stars in Wilmington. Howard will know what to do, if anything can be - about the dilemma. Good luck to you both, and thanks for the vote of confidence. Would like to see Allen make the big time, if he's as well equipped as you seem to think.

August 25, 26, and 27 brings the 4-H FAIR, to the Center in Westford. The livestock will be in charge of Wendy Evans. Those are some Black Angus that you have in No. Wil. pastureland. Wendy. (They are on the corner of Ballardvale and 125 for you folks that have't seen them. All sizes at present. The kids love 'em.)

Sam Shapiro of Sweetheart Plastics has announced the building of a new plant in Conyers, Georgia. This will manufacture and distribute to the Southeast. However the headquarters will still remain in Wilmington.

Local servicemen currently on leave are: Billy Pierce of Marie Drive, who is home after serving in Vietnam with the SeaBees; Jim Webster of Andover Street, who just completed Navy boot camp at Great Lakes, Ill.; Larry Mahoney of Lake Street, who has been in Louisiana with the Air Force; and David Deming of Federal Street, on leave from the Marines in San Diego, Cal. He recently completed a long tour of duty in Vietnam.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS: In the Carling League, the Most Valuable player honors were shared this year by Jeff Williamson (left) pitcher for the Wilmington Tradesmen and Jack Eydenberg, (right) first baseman for Watertown. The presentation was made last Saturday by Red Buttand, Commissioner of the Carling League.

Eydenberg is a teacher in Burlington High School.

by Joe Beaton, Jr.

This box seat ticketholder will dispense with the use of parables and caustic caricatures in discussing Wilmington's recreation program. A frank, direct, gopefully constructive criticism is herein contained.

So that blame will have no chance of being misdirected, you'll note that the name of the party responsible appears above.

Point one: The recreation program is headed by an underpaid part time director, who, admittedly no longer wants any part of the job. Ideal situation? Hardly!

Secondly, we have an unpaid, volunteer recreation commission, made up of a half dozen very excellent citizens, who have, individually, done alot for the young people of Wilmington, but have, collectively, little to show for their term in office. Their meetings are about as frequent as leap years and their influence is less than negligible. Ideal situation? Not quite!

Point three, funds are gravely insufficient to support an adequate, let alone progressive, program. Annually, the commissioner requests, and is allotted at town meetings the equivalent of 60 or 70 cents per citizen for recreation. Name a golf course, ski lift, spectator sport, or resort area you frequent, my dear citizen, where the tariff is assessed so cheaply. Ideal situation? Less than.

Fourthly, ball parks or playgrounds and equipment pose problems far too flagrant to possibly overlook. Inadequate skating areas; insufficient gym time and space; poorly developed and maintained ball fields; delayed replacement or repair of damaged or worn playground equipment are but a few examples. Ideal situation? Uh uh!

Point the fifth, recreation personnel are, generally, unskilled or inexperienced or underpaid or a combination thereof. I'm all for the town's 'WPA' type part time and summer work for college students, particularly after having been one, appreciatively, in the past. However, people not trained in physical education, being remunerated at little more than minimum wage, and being oftentimes burdened with oversize groups can hardly be expected to do a professional job. Ideal situation? Negative!

Now, I do not blame the commissioner or the commission. I blame the town, all sixteen thousand of us. Our population is multiplying. Our industries are burgeoning. Wilmington is on its way to becoming a city.

Its recreation program is, unfortunately, not urban, but rural. I shant make any recommendations not being a qualified professional. But the inadequacies are so blatantly obvious that even the blind cannot overlook them.

Show up at the next town meeting and do something about it.

The turnout for Pop Warner tryouts has been thusfar disappointing with only half of the 107 who signed up reporting. If you're a boy between the ages of 10 and 13 who likes the action rough and wants to be a part of a winning outfit, then hustle down to the high school field at six o'clock any night this week.

G.M. Rico Catalano informs me that only if a sufficient number of candidates show interest will a second team be added for Wilmington. Incidentally, tryouts for Pop Warner cheerleaders are also being conducted for girls of like age.

Surety Bank closed out the regular season with an 8-0 win over Hazelwood Cottage, but were knocked off by the same team in the first round of the playoffs, 6-1, and cannot afford to lose another. Surety finished the season in second place, one point off the top.

The Lowell-Greater Lowell all star football game featuring hard-nosed Dick Doucette of Wilmington, is on for next Thursday night at Cawley Stadium.

A Mycological Tale

It has been a peculiar summer. The sun has been hiding behind rain clouds, crops are slow in ripening, and the drought of the past five years is now a thing of memory.

One effect has been a tremendous increase in the fruiting of fungi. Where only a few mushrooms were growing a couple of years ago hundreds, sometimes thousands, can be found.

That peculiar species of hunter, the mycologist, also known as the mushroom hunter, is in his glory. Your writer is one of these.

Mushrooms of course are a type of fungi, and fungi are not like the ordinary plants around us.

Fungi are the subject of much lore, and more superstition. Some of them, indeed many of them, have an affinity for strange chemical compounds.

It is this affinity for strange compounds that make some fungi capable of producing hallucinations when eaten, some capable of producing gastric upsets, and some, notably of the species Amanita, of death.

There are about 13 varieties of Amanita, 11 of them said to be poisonous. One of them, Caesar's Mushroom (Amanita Caesarea) is said to have about the finest flavor of any mushroom, but the ordinary garden variety of mycologist will never take the chance, to taste one, if he should find it.

The Caesars of Rome reputedly tested their Amanita Caesarea by feeding samples to their slaves. If the slaves were alive next morning it not only proved that the mushroom was not another variety of Amanita, but also that the slaves had had a wonderful supper!

In the United States there are about 3000 species of mushrooms. Of these about 50 are truly to be described as edible. But the flavor of those 50 - each is distinctive, and almost is incapable of description.

The mushrooms one buys in a store, the commercial mushroom, has nothing in flavor compared to wild mushrooms.

Take, for instance, Leucoagaricus Procerus - the Parasol Mushroom.

It is well named, for it appears to be a parasol. Sometimes it grows to be a foot tall, and just as broad, but the average is about six or eight inches. Ten inch wide specimens are fairly common.

But finding a mushroom that fits this description does not mean that a Parasol Mushroom has been found. The Amanita, which is very common in Wilmington, has species which are very similar in appearance - but oh so deadly.

Last weekend your writer saw a few Parasol Mushrooms.

That meant the flag was up. The Leucoagaricus Procerus was fruiting - and a Mushroom Picking Party was in order - a party of one.

To look for mushrooms today the best technique is to drive around slowly, inspecting lawns. If something is to be seen that resembles the mushroom for which a search is being made - get out and look!

Two lawns down in Hathaway Acres gave your writer his second and third batch of Parasol Mushrooms. The Gallahue family and the Moeglin family probably have opinions of the writer, but they have never eaten Parasol Mushrooms.

That gave the writer about twenty Parasols - enough for a good meal. But perhaps there were a few more around.

Some miles later on that afternoon the writer's car was traversing old Ballardvale Street. A few Parasols were spotted in a field. There was an electric fence around

It was a pasture, belonging to Bob Evans. Carefully evading the electric fence your writer was soon happily picking mushrooms. Next door, about one hundred yards away a man appeared in a door.

It was Paul Galka, member of a well known Wilmington family of the past 60 or 70 years. Paul was the boy who was called 'Vut' when he was in school, back in the 1920s.

Mr Galka, it turned out, picked mushrooms too. He learned of the identity of some species from his father. He had never picked Parasol Mushrooms. He regarded it as being a sub-species of Amanita and would have nothing to do with it.

Just that morning he had noticed some of Bob Evans' cattle eating something that wasn't grass. It wasn't until he got out in the field that he realized those cattle were eating the same kind of mushroom the writer was picking.

Here, the writer thought, could be a grim joke, similar in context to the story about Caesar's slaves. Except that the writer knew that the cattle would be alive the next morning.

That pasture was loaded with the Parasols. Your writer spent the afternoon, picking 20 quarts.

That was obviously too much to be eaten at one time. They must be canned - get out the jars and the pressure cooker!

But there were no rubber rings in the house, and the lady of the household said she had given the preserving things to Mrs. Christian Bachman of Marie Drive.

A telephone call to Mrs. Bachman produced no rubber rings, but an offer to freeze the mushrooms instead. A 50-50 agreement was soon made - 50% of the freezing to Mrs. Bachman, and 50% to the writer.

It didn't take long. Those 20 quarts of Parasols were washed, cut up, parboiled and frozen, and became eleven large sized pints of frozen mushrooms.

And two families of Wilmington are assured of a good supply of mushrooms this winter - far far superior in taste to the common store bought variety.

MRS. RUTH KITCHENER of Aldrich Road had this specimen of a mushroom, growing in front of her house. Called the Sulphur Shelf, it has a flavor like chicken, but better. This specimen measured 20 inches across.

a distant third place last year, trampled our boys by 42. All of which goes to prove that the Denver Broncos are odds on favorites in the Super dooper bowl.

It's nearing countdown time at Andover and Mike Holovak must pare ten names from his roster. Don't wager a week's pay on it, but here are ten pretty good bets to go: Arrington, Graves, Smith, Yewcic, Hennessy, Colclough, Romeo, Toner, Boudreaux, and Laird.

America sent a rinky-dink track team to Montreal and paid for it, but the group that ran over to England played for keeps.

championship at stake, Wilmington had won 8-0 and 2-1. Wilmington had taken last summer's playoff finals from the same team four games to one. There can be no alibi, however. Reading's hits were not flukes; they were rockets.

Manager Tighe assures his fans that his team has not left the country, and that they will show up for the game(s) this weekend.

The schedule calls for a double header at Wilmington Saturday, starting at 1:30, and a single game in Reading on Sunday at 2:00 pm. Perhaps the week long interlude

In Town Softball playoffs, twelve is the magic number. Charles River defeated the Merri-macs 12-10 in the opener of the best 3 of 5 final series. In the next two games, however, the Merri-macs did their part toward the extermination of rats by prevailing 12-4 and 12-6. Superior defense has been the deciding factor thus far.

The Jimmy Fund game next Thursday will pit the winner of this game against the league all star team. It should be a good take for a good cause. If you can't attend, send a donation for this most worthy cause to Commissioner Howard Lafaver.

will allow the injured to heal their wounds. Connie Barry has a badly pulled leg muscle and could not dress for Sunday. Jim Gillis ran into the fence in Wilmington on Saturday trying to catch a home run ball, and could not grip a bat with his swollen arm on Sunday. Jimmy Melzar hurt his throwing arm on Sunday and had to be moved to first base.

Since one more win will give Reading the playoff title, the series now becomes a game-to-game proposition, with Wilmington needing to win four straight.

READING'S FIRST HOMER: Made last Saturday was by Bob Stanziani, in the third inning. Stanziani hit the ball over the centerfield fence for a distance of about 375 feet.

SELECTMEN (Fr. Pg. 4)

A letter from the Building Inspector proposed a new method of taking care of minor zoning violations.

Roy McClanahan proposed that before any license is renewed the Selectmen have the license application referred to him, so that he can tell the Selectmen whether or not there are any current zoning violations.

In this way, McClanahan said, minor infractions could be taken care of without the necessity of court. The Selectmen were impressed, and voted to send the letter to the Town Counsel for advice.

There is to be a meeting with the MDC on August 28th., to establish the cost of sewerage in the district, to the various towns and cities.

The School Committee had sent a letter, which was read, requesting more adequate alarm systems in the public schools, to prevent vandalism, which, the letter said was costing the town thousands of dollars a year. Morris told the Selectmen he was looking into the problem.

Miceli announced that Town Accountant Bob Peters will hereafter attend one meeting of the Selectmen each month, the meeting following his monthly statement on the town finances.

Mrs Drew again asked about the gravel pit operating in North Wilmington, which started a long discussion, with Miceli saying that something should be done to at least collect money from licenses. The case has been referred to the Town Counsel for possible remedial action.

DIAPER RASH

One of the causes of diaper rash is detergent residue left in diapers after they are laundered.

A high incidence of rash can be cut down by using a nonwoven diaper liner inside the diaper at each change. This clean liner next to baby's tender skin acts as a barrier against the detergent residue in the diaper.
